South Carolina is an important Chastain state.

Pierre Chastain settled in Virginia Colony in 1700. About the time of the American Revolution, the Chastain families began migrating, and Georgia, Indiana, and South Carolina were important Chastain states early on.

In 1840 South Carolina represented almost 18% of all Chastain households in the United States (nearly one in five). 1880 was 5.5%, and 1920 was 5.2%.

Pickens County, South Carolina is still a popular pilgrimage destination for Chastains, and has been the site for a number of Pierre Chastain Family Association annual reunions.
